

True Name™

by mastercard

For Trans and Nonbinary people, using their credit card is a real pain-point. In many states, it's a difficult and long process to change your legal name. Even worse, many people have been denied service, endured harassment and assault.

True Name is the first credit card to display a person's chosen name proudly on the front. Our hope is that it becomes an industry standard and financial institutions everywhere will begin to recognize people for who they really are.
